Q-1) Read the passage and answer the following questions-

The Little Red Wagon 🍎

Lily loves to play outside. One sunny Saturday, she took her little red wagon out to the garden. Her mom gave her a big basket. "Can you help me pick some apples?" asked Mom. Lily was happy to help! She pulled her wagon under the big apple tree. The tree was tall and green. Lily picked ten red apples and put them in the basket. The basket was heavy! She put the heavy basket into her little red wagon. It was much easier to pull the wagon than to carry the heavy basket. Lily pulled the wagon all the way back to the kitchen. Mom gave her a sweet, juicy apple slice as a treat. Lily smiled. It was a good day to help!

The Little Red Ball 🍒

I have a little ball, it's round and red,
It bounces high above my head.
When I throw it, it goes up so far,
Like a bright, bouncy, little star.
I play with it in the park all day,
I kick it gently when I play.
My puppy, Max, he likes it too,
He tries to chew it, "No, Max, shoo!"
When it gets late and the sun goes down,
I bring my little red ball into town
My house, of course, is where it sleeps
Safe with my secrets that it keeps.

MASTERING MY HANDWRITING

The Great Forest Adventure

Once upon a time, there was a little squirrel named Squeaky. Squeaky lived in a giant oak tree deep in the Whispering Woods. Every morning, the sun would peek through the leaves, and Squeaky would wake up with a smile. He loved to collect acorns and store them in his cozy home.

One sunny Tuesday, Squeaky decided to go on a special adventure. He packed a tiny basket and set off down the winding forest path. He walked past tall, green ferns and bright red mushrooms. He saw a blue bird singing a cheerful song and a quick, brown rabbit hopping in the grass.

Squeaky reached a babbling brook with clear, cool water. He carefully crossed over a mossy log that served as a small bridge. On the other side, he found a patch of the biggest, shiniest acorns he had ever seen! He happily filled his basket until it was full and then turned to walk back. Squeaky knew he would have enough food for the long, cold winter. It was a wonderful day!
