Q2. Read the following passage and answer the following questions

Last Saturday, the residents of Maple Street gathered for a community clean-up drive. The event was organized by the local youth club, which aimed to make the neighborhood cleaner and greener. Despite the warm weather, nearly fifty volunteers arrived early in the morning, armed with gloves, garbage bags, and refreshing bottles of water.

The volunteers divided themselves into small groups to cover different areas of the neighborhood. Some picked up litter from the sidewalks, while others removed weeds from the community garden. A few even painted the old benches in the nearby park. By afternoon, Maple Street looked cleaner and more welcoming than it had in months.

The success of the clean-up drive inspired the residents to plan similar events in the future. Many felt proud of their efforts and realized that small actions, when taken together, can bring about meaningful change.
