Visit to Old Age Home

Dear Diary,

Today my class visited an old age home as part of a social service activity. There we saw and interacted with many aged people. We were told that these homes originally came into existence to aid senior citizens who had no family or me Answer: to support themselves. However, today these homes have become a place where people drop off their old parents as parcels citing lack of time or blaming financial constraints. Indian society which upheld the virtues of family love has turned a back against the ageing and the helpless. It is a shame that people forget the sacrifices of their parents. Taking care of them was once an honour, now it is considered a burden. We have to battle this social problem and be more sensitive to the needs of our parents and elders.

Teacher's Day

Dear Diary,

Tomorrow is the 5th of September. Nationwide it is celebrated as Teacher's Day to honour the great soul who was born on that particular day, Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. There are butterflies in my stomach tonight, since tomorrow I have to present a speech at school. It is also an honour that I have been chosen out of so many aspirants. I have therefore written a beautiful speech appreciating the noble profession of our teachers. They inspire us to do great things, chide us when we are wrong and dispel all our childish pomposity. They help us refine our crude selves and become respectable members of society. In honour of my favourite teacher Mrs. Saini, I have dedicated a small paragraph in the speech to her. I sincerely hope that I am able to deliver the speech tomorrow without any trepidation. Good night.

Q.3 :Recently you visited the old age home in Delhi. You met old people who were lonely and sick. Their children had left them to fend for themselves. When you talked to them, you felt bad about the fact that they were not living with their children. Write about your experiences in your diary.

Dear Diary,

Today, I visited an old age home. I was surprised to see the condition of the old people there. Even though the medical facilities and food were good, it was disheartening to see that most of them were under depression. Their children had abandoned them. Some had forcefully kicked them out of the house. So now, they have nowhere to go. When I talked to them, my heart was filled with sympathy for them. What could I do to make them happy? I told them some jokes and riddles, but they seemed to be unmoved by the humour. I spent some time with them and promised myself one thing. I will look after my parents when I grow up. I will never leave them like this.

I wondered why people misbehave with their parents like this. Parents should be respected and loved because parents are the best people in this world.

Q.4: You witnessed a quarrel among some children of your colony. Make a diary entry giving an account of the quarrel giving some suggestions to avoid such quarrels in future.

8:00 pm

Dear Diary,

Today, when I was coming back from school, I saw some children at the corner of the street quarrelling among themselves. I could hear them shouting at each other. When I went nearer, I could recognise two of them. They were Nikhil and Suraj. I could sense the danger prevailing there as some older boys had hockey sticks in their hands.

At once I ran towards Nikhil's house and informed his mother about the quarrel. She rushed towards the spot along with some neighbours. As soon as the children saw elders approaching, they ran away. Nikhil was relieved to see his mother as some older boys from the neighbouring colony were bullying them and asking them to part with their money and other valuables. I advised Nikhil not to talk to people whom he didn't know. I told him to play near his house and not too far away. Nikhil's mother thanked me for my prompt action. You know diary, today I am feeling at the top of the world as I have done a good deed. Now, I am going to sleep as I am very tired.

Dear Diary,

Today was the best day of my life. Guess why? Sumati mam told me that I have been selected as the 'Best sportsman of the year'. I am so happy that all the hard work that I had done, paid back today. I can never forget how much I had toiled in the field, during the summer camp to get into the school football team. My coach had appreciated my efforts. My parents will be so proud of me when I will receive the trophy for the 'Best Sportsman' from the Chief Guest. All the parents and teachers will clap for me. I will be a hero at that moment. I have also been selected to represent the team for the School Nationals to be held next month. God, please give me strength and endurance to live up to the expectations of my coach and my parents.
